PROFERTIL informs its neighbors

Ingeniero White, June 3. The Company informs that during the early morning hours of today, it started the operations to take out of service the production plants of the complex, to carry out maintenance tasks. It is expected to initiate the start-up process within the next 72 days.

During the course of these processes there will be greater luminosity in the flares and an increase in the usual noise level. The municipal, provincial and national authorities have already been informed of these operations.

For any concerns that may arise, please contact us through the usual channels and our social networks (@profertilAgro).
