PROFERTIL informs its neighbors

Ingeniero White, September 27, 2021, Profertil informs that it will begin the process of shutting down its production plants due to maintenance work to be conducted by the electricity distribution company at the transformer station that feeds the complex. Once these tasks are completed, Profertil will be able to start the start-up maneuvers.

During the course of these processes there will be a greater luminosity in the torches and an increase in the usual sound level.

The municipal, provincial and national authorities have already been informed of these tasks.

Attached is an informative video on the function of the plant flares during these operations:
