PROFERTIL informs its neighbors

Ingeniero White, September 30, 2021, Profertil informs that once the maintenance tasks performed by the electricity distribution company at the station that feeds the complex have been completed, in the next few hours the plant will start up maneuvers, a process that will last approximately three days.

During the course of these processes there will be a greater luminosity in the flares and an increase in the usual sound level.

The municipal, provincial and national authorities have already been informed of these tasks.

Attached is an informative video on the function of the plant flares during these operations: <https://youtu.be/FzvRjW-fVDE>

The contact channels for any concerns that may arise are the usual ones and the company's social networks (@profertilAgro).
