Social, economic and environmental balance

Profertil presented its Sustainability Report 2020

Ingeniero White, August 31, 2021, In the year of its 20th anniversary, Profertil presents the tenth edition of its Sustainability Report. A document that annually details the actions related to the triple social, economic and environmental balance.

This tenth edition presents the initiatives that were conducted during 2020, in order to strengthen the commitment to the community and the development of sustainable agriculture.

It was an incredibly special year, characterized by the teamwork that was conducted to manage the pandemic. As an industry declared essential for food production, protocols were prepared in record time to achieve labor continuity, the way of working was adapted, and technology was incorporated so that everyone could perform their tasks safely. None of this would have been possible without the commitment of everyone at Profertil.

In terms of environmental care, the great news for 2020 is that 60% of the energy consumed by Profertil in its production process in Bahía Blanca is already of renewable origin. This consolidates a great advance in sustainability.

In times of pandemic, Profertil chooses to remain close to the community. That is why the Sustainability Report details how the programs that contribute to the social development of neighboring communities were adapted to a virtual format. In addition, the first edition of the Educate to Transform program was launched.

The elaboration of the Profertil Sustainability Report responds to the GRI (Global Reporting Initiative) standards, which represent the best practices at a global level to publicly report the economic, environmental and social impacts of an organization. Similarly, it is in line with the criteria proposed by the UN from the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) that seek, through 17 objectives, to positively transform our world by 2030. Profertil subscribes to these objectives through its participation in the Global Compact, the world's largest social responsibility initiative.

As every year, the Sustainability Report is presented in different formats, in order to reach all those interested in the company's initiatives related to environmental and community care. The online version is already available on the web page of the Company (www.profertil.com.ar). Also, there is a video on the same page that summarizes the content of the Report and presents the main data in an attractive and dynamic way.
